

Coronavirus Updates

Tuesday, April 7th, 2020

Our manufacturing facilities in Zhongshan and Debao China have seen a steady increase in our workforce returning after the Corona Virus related plant closures. These locations are now at approximately 80% capacity. As well, our critical raw material vendors have now reopened their plants and are increasing their capacity as quickly as possible. The situation remains fluid as we are now dealing with the virus's effect on the Global business environment, but we are confident that we will continual improvement in the coming weeks.

The HALO sales personnel, are now working from home, following the Shelter-In-Place (SIP) State and Federal Orders. Essential functions required to continue provide our critical service to our customers and support our employees working from home are being performed following the Social Distancing Protocols.

The entire HALO Team would like to thank you, our most valued customers, for your patience while we work through the COVID-19 virus issues and keep our workers safe and healthy. We, as has been our practice throughout this difficult time, will continue to communicate and update you as more information becomes available.

Sincerely,

HALO's Management Team
